PRALINE INDUSTRY IN BAY RECEIVES RECOGNITION

The "Mississippi Rural Electric News," a publication with a circulation of 75,000, devoted two entire pages to Bay St. Louis in their Jan. 4 issue. Large captions termed Bay St. Louis "The World's Praline Capital," and displayed many pictures of the praline industry which flourishes on Highway 90.

The article read in part: "One Georgia Cracker on his way home from the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans on New Year's day said 'On the way over the other night it looked like a Sunday School Version of the Main Street in Reno or Las Vegas, Nevada. And now, in daylight, it looks like the concession stand at a fair or circus, or something...'"

"Such was the impression gained from the method of advertising by those in the praline business."

Chairman Fred Herlihy Reveals Objective For 1954 Savings Bonds Sales

Acting County Chairman Fred Herlihy, of the US Treasury Savings Bonds Division, released today the 1954 objective for the sale of Savings Bonds in Hancock County. In doing so he quotes from a letter he has had from Rex I. Brown, Chairman, State Advisory Committee: "George M. Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury, has repeatedly stated that the Savings Bonds Program is of great importance in the Treasury's plans for constructive management of the public debt and the maintenance of sound money."

"I have no hesitation in saying I believe it a sound thing for our people to support the Government's Savings Bonds Program and for us to encourage our friends to do so. If private enterprise is to be maintained in the United States there is no substitute for them. If our people ever lose the habit of thrift and stop saving, the funds for private enterprise will cease."

"A free economy such as ours is built on the savings of people. America's sound security depends on the initiative of each individual. Our people, for their own security should become stockholders in our government—urge economy in all phases of its operation so as to make the dollar sound and the nation financially secure."

"We have $7,719,531,612 of Savings Bonds which mature during 1954. If the present trend continues, 75 per cent of the $5,564,785,180 of E Bonds will be held under the maturity option plan. But in spite of this fact the Treasury will need $5,300,000,000 sale of Series E and H Savings Bonds to keep the debt spread among the people. Of this amount Mississippi has been asked to sell $31,800,000."

Hancock County is asked to sell $150,000."

Herlihy said, "Holders of F and G Bonds maturing this year might like to invest this money in the new 3 per cent current income H Bond which is par all the time." He solicits the cooperation of everyone so as to achieve Hancock County's 1954 objective.

Holy Name Society Holds Annual Reception Tuesday

The annual reception of new members of the Holy Name Society was held Tuesday night at Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

Following the church ceremonies a gathering was held in the auditorium of St. Joseph's Academy for members.

The burning lights in thousands of homes will be the signal to an army of volunteer mothers that they will be welcome to receive contributions to the March of Dimes.

The Hancock County March of Dimes Committee has designated the hour between 7:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. as the time for this dramatic windup of the campaign against infantile paralysis, the chairman declared. The local Mothers' March on Polio, she continued, is part of an identical nationwide movement in which hundreds of thousands of mothers will participate.

"Turn on your porch light to fight polio is the theme of this special appeal by the mothers of the nation on behalf of the men, women and children who have suffered from infantile paralysis," the chairman said. The lights of American homes, she continued, also will serve as a symbol of hope to those who may be stricken in the future.

"Here's the way the Mothers' March will work," she explained. "Between the hours designated, every resident in the county will be asked to turn on his porch light—or to burn a light in his front window—if he wishes to make a contribution to the March of Dimes."

"The mothers will march, street by street, block by block, house to house receiving contributions to this year's campaign against polio."

Mrs. Murphy declared that the recruitment of volunteers will continue throughout the week. Those wishing to enlist, she said, may do so by telephoning 129-R or 794. Each mother will be assigned a specific place in the march.

"While mothers of the county are responding with enthusiasm," said Mrs. Murphy, "we also are receiving support from another quarter—fathers, brothers, uncles and nephews. We certainly are not turning them away, because we know how deeply they feel about this war against polio. However, during the hour of the Mothers' March between 7 and 8 p.m., the mothers will have the star roles."

Theatre Active As Preparation Made For 1954 Season

The Little Theatre of Bay St. Louis is a veritable beehive of activity these days.

Preparations for the 1954 season are getting underway in production. A play reading committee has been appointed by the Chairman of Production, Mrs. C. D. Blair, and numerous plays are being read and studied for prospective entertainment material.

The first play of the season, while not yet named, will be a comedy. It is the policy of the theatre to open and close with a comedy, which is the most popular type of production with this group. The selection of productions for the season will be rounded out with one drama, one suspense story, and if possible, Mrs. Blair hopes to present one musical show this season.

It has long been the desire of the production staff to include a musical play in the repertoire, but so far they have been just a little beyond the ability of casting or production. But Mrs. Blair intends to bend every effort toward such a production this season, and if it is feasible, should really pack the house for the duration of its run.

Memberships are on sale, and may be obtained by contacting Robert Schaff, business manager of the theatre.

A $5.00 season membership not only is admission for an entire year of entertainment, but is an assurance of the continuance of one of the finest civic ventures that the community has to offer.

County Industrial Board Planned

Enticing industry to a community is a difficult task, and must have the cooperation of the entire community, Al Sanders, representative of the State Agricultural and Industrial Board told city and county officials, representatives of local organizations and civic leaders here Monday.

He pointed out, however, that 53 new industries had come to Mississippi during the last year, and there was a growing trend southward in industry.

The group met to discuss the possibility of bringing some type of industrial plant to Hancock County. Also addressing the meeting were Lee Wood, Industrial Representative of the Mississippi Power Company and Representative Walter James Phillips.

Sanders said the first requirement in any attempt to interest an industry in a community was a comprehensive industrial survey. He pointed out that possibly be asked by a prospective industry must be available. He also stressed the need for extreme accuracy when presenting facts to a prospect.

"A community must be ready to deal with a prospect before any attempt is made to contact him," Sanders warned.

The A & I Board representative pointed out that Hancock County had much to offer an industrial plant, but he warned that the county would be "competing" with practically every other community in the state.

Lee Wood of the Mississippi Power Company pledged his cooperation, especially in compiling a complete industrial survey of the county and in obtaining a confidential investigation of prospects.

Sanders recommended a special board be selected with the sole objective of bringing industry to the county. He suggested a board composed of from 8 to 10 leading citizens. Careful selection of members of this board was imperative, he said, because success or failure to interest a prospect in a community often hinged on some minor detail that was easily overlooked.

"The work of this board will be difficult, time-consuming, and often heart-breaking," Sanders said.

Those present at the meeting were enthusiastic about the prospect of industry for Hancock County. A county industrial board will be selected at another meeting, to be held at 10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 5 in the courtroom.

In the interim, those present at Monday's meeting will have an opportunity to report to their respective organizations on the prospects for industry and the qualifications of members of the board.

Selection of members of the board will be more judiciously made after a careful analysis of the problem, it was felt.

Sanders also explained the operation of the State's Balance Agriculture With Industry plan. Under the BAWI, he said, a community can vote bonds to build a plant for an industry. The plant is then leased to the industry until the bonds are repaid. This, he explained, releases the industry's capital for other uses. The "plant" includes only the land and building, he added and does not include any machinery.

"However," the A & I man said, "we much prefer that the business do its own financing, rather than be established under BAWI." He said that of the 53 new industries located in Mississippi in 1953, 20 had been under the BAWI plan.

It takes lots of SAVINGS

TO DO WHAT WE ARE DOING IN MISSISSIPPI

Only a financially healthy telephone company can keep on improving and expanding to keep pace with our State's increasing need for more telephones and improved service.

In the past 8 years, Southern Bell has spent over 82 million dollars; more than doubled the number of individual and two-party telephones in the State; increased the total number of telephones from 115,876 to over 258,000.

For this work, great quantities of materials and supplies are bought from Mississippi industries. All this building has required increasingly greater tax payments for the support of state and local governments.

To get investors to let us use their savings to continue expanding and improving telephone service requires a fair profit on the money already invested in telephone equipment.

A Calculated Risk

The companies and independent operators who are Mississippi's oil and gas industry have risked more than one billion dollars of private capital in their efforts to discover and develop this state's hidden resources.

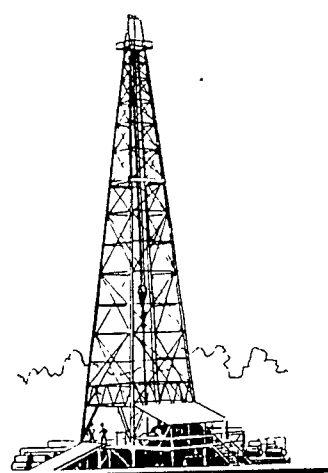

The driller's risk is not a haphazard gamble, it is a calculated risk which pits experience, skill, money and modern science against Mother Earth's trickery. The driller knows just one thing for sure: that the odds against his finding a new reservoir of oil or gas in Mississippi are 20 to one . . . more than twice the nine-to-one odds which are the national average.

A look at the statistical record will show that Mississippi drillers have to dig deeper, at greater cost and greater hazard, with less chance of earning a profit through oil or gas production, than drillers in the remainder of the country.

Mississippi's oil and gas industry is trying to overcome these odds and in the face of higher costs and repeated failures . . . to perform a function necessary to this state's economic growth and the nation's military security. This vital industry needs and deserves the encouragement and support of every Mississippian.

MISSISSIPPI'S Oil and Gas Industry

"We're
always in hot water . . .
ain't we, Pop!"

Yes, there's always hot water in a home with a new automatic GAS water heater. Gas never lets you down. It does all the really big jobs in the home—water heating or cooking, clothes drying or heating, refrigeration or air conditioning.

There's lots of natural gas here in the Gulf South . . . gas for you and industry too. But the search for additional reserves goes on.

Every year, oil and gas producers invest millions of dollars drilling for gas. There's a business in the real American tradition . . . a keenly competitive business which has been free of needless regulation by governmental bodies . . . one in which initiative and hard work have paid off. Let's keep it that way, and be sure of gas for the future.

Budget-wise families agree that natural gas service is the biggest bargain in the home today—worth every cent they pay for it . . . and then some!

19 TEAMS TO VIE IN BAY HIGH TOURNEY

January 27-28-29-30

Nineteen teams will vie for top honors in the Bay High Invitational Tournament to be held January 27, 28, 29 and 30.

Picayune, Dedaux, Perkinson, Industrial, Carriers, St. Joseph of Pass Christian, Ocean Springs and Bay High have entered boys and girls teams. St. Stanislaus and Demonstration had entered boys teams and St. Joseph Academy has entered their team.

Games will begin at 7:00 Wednesday, January 27, Thursday at 7:00, Friday at 3:00 and Saturday at 1:30.

PASS WINS OWN TOURNAMENT IN THRILLER SAT. NIGHT

Pass Christian High took their own tournament Saturday night by finally edging Orange Grove 42-41.

With Pass Christian trailing 37-36 Leroy Westovich made a seeming winning field goal as the game ended but the referee ruled he was fouled before he went into his shot. Twelve hundred fans watched as Westovich went to the free throw line. He missed his first shot but sunk the second to force the game into a three minute overtime.

Each team made two field goals in the overtime and with five seconds left Orange Grove's Jerry Rouse stole the ball and raced toward his goal only to have his shot roll around the rim and off. Rouse then tried to get the ball for another shot but in so doing fouled Lolly Parker, just as the whistle blew.

Parker then had the game in his hands. He stepped to the line and dropped in his charity toss to give Pass High the tournament crown.

Gerald Winsted was high scorer for the Pass with 17 points.

In the girls' finals Woolmarket edged Pass High 54-50 behind Hudson's 29 point effort. Rudy Jo Lively tallied 24 points for the losers.

SJA BOWS TO SHAMROCKS IN LAST TWO SECONDS

St. Stanislaus took a pair of games from St. Joseph Academy 49-47 Monday night in a thrilling basketball rematch.

Mildred Logan tallied 32 points in leading the Shamrocks to their victory. Logan's field goal in the last two seconds of play was the deciding factor.

Janet Genia was high scorer for the Gold Jays with 18 points.

Early in the season the two rivals fought to a 38-38 tie. The next meeting of the two teams will be January 28 in the Bay High Invitational Tournament.

SSC COPS COUPLE FROM ST. JOSEPH

St. Stanislaus took a pair of games from St. Joseph as the varsity won 59-24 behind the sharp shooting of Tommy Schaffer and Ernest Aldape.

Mississippi's forest lands and wood-using industries present an outstanding example of a balanced agricultural and industrial picture. Our forests provide the raw materials from which our industries make of them hundreds of products for sale to markets of the world.

Mississippi landowners are maintaining the agricultural side of this balance by record-breaking achievements in reforestation, improved forestry practices and forest fire protection. Mississippi citizens are helping to maintain the industrial balance by providing a friendly business climate in which our wood-using industries can continue to make their contribution to economic progress of the state.

"East of Sumatra" is the brawling saga of a soldier-of-fortune, brought to life by Jeff Chandler in a Universal-International Technicolor adventure, and the exploits of this rugged, reckless rover will play at the Star Theatre Sunday and Monday, Jan. 24-25.

With co-stars Marilyn Maxwell, Academy Award winning Anthony Quinn and Susan Ball joining Chandler in a romantic and robust cast lineup, "East of Sumatra" mixes jungle jeopardy with forbidden love in a story that will more than satisfy those who like their action rousing, their men rough and reckless, their women irresistible.

Chief Quinn really turns on the terror when a fire accidentally destroys the native rice harvest and Chandler, already romantically involved with half-caste princess Suzan Ball and his old flame Marilyn Maxwell, faces one of the most terrifying sieges ever filmed.

The resulting attempts to escape through the jungle and the climactic machete-and-fire duel between Chandler and Quinn provide a roaring finish to the pulse-pounding pace story keeps from the start.

Chandler takes to his part naturally and makes you believe that he really is as tough as the jungle he tamed and as dangerous as the women he loves. And Quinn, as always, shows his uncanny ability to build sympathetic appeal for the picture's chief menace.

Marilyn Maxwell, as the woman out of Chandler's reckless past, is a most provocative Technicolor temptress. And she has to be. For in Susan Ball making her first starring appearance as the untamed daughter of the jungle, literally brings paradise to the devil's backyard with her sinuous native dance, swimming in the island waters and in general raising the blood pressure of Chandler and his iron men.

BY KIT MICHAEL

Every homemaker has her eye peeled for something new in decorating. Even though she may not be able to use the idea in her home, she will inspect it, study it and even try it.Whenever something new catches my fancy, I try to go. I try to try just about anything. Usually the idea is enough for any homemaker to start designing and planning. Often she will work on the original idea and come up with something even better.A table I saw recently, made from "junk" from a wrecking company, has had me on a Cook's Tour searching for similar material.The base of the table was made from a porch column. Two were used because this table was quite large.
The columns were set on a flat base of wood. The table top was a solid door panel. After sanding and smoothing, the piece was painted with black enamel and splattered with gilt. It was beautiful. I am certain if it were for sale the price would be unbelievable.Another home-made item I fell in love with was a small chest that was originally purchased as an unpainted piece. A slight change was made in the pulls. Large knobs were substituted instead of the small ones giving it a modern touch. The chest was sanded and then painted white. Completing the finish a highly decorativetouch was effected by splattering the chest with two additional colors used in the room color scheme. This splatter effect was very even, and very easy to apply. Simply hit the paint brush against a board a given distance from the chest. The size of the splatter is determined by the distance from brush to object.A most unusual lamp was made by incorporating a brass candleholder from a railroad car and a white ironstone plate as a reflector. The plate was attached to the wall behind the lamp by means of a commercial plate hanger. Attractive, unique and very low in cost.This column would like to compliment two very worthy groups in Waveland.
Working steadily, quietly and successfully. The first the school lunchroom, located in the Waveland Town Hall. The second, the Waveland Volunteer Fire Department, located in the same building.It is remarkable the work that can be done when people are determined to succeed.The lunchroom is serving the Town of Waveland by feeding the school children a clean, hot, well-balanced meal. Upon inspection through the courtesy of Mrs. Garfield Ladner, your reporter found the kitchen, its utensils and its equipment immaculately clean and in good order.Mrs. Ladner mentioned that occasionally it is necessary to have some sort of entertainment to obtain the cash that is needed to continue this work. The children pay fifteen cents a day for each meal. The State pays the lunch-room eight cents per child plus a generous supply of commodities stuffed instead of the small ones giving it a modern touch. The chest was sanded and then painted white. Completing the finish a highly decorativeAnother home-made item I fell in for the safety and comfort of Waveland is the Volunteer Fire Department.

This organization is in the strictest sense of the word a voluntary group.
They formed this group a few years ago

PHONE 9136men and women banded together and from that small group, the active department in existence today was formed.They have had a very tough time getting enough funds to do a decent job. They receive only gas and oil from the Town of Waveland. All the equipment—the truck, the hose, fire extinguishers etc.—have been acquired through hard work and dogged determination.When the organization was formed, it was backed up by a group of hard-working women who formed an Auxiliary. These ladies have been active planning entertainments and fairs to raise the funds necessary for the upkeep and improvement of their fire truck.The fire truck has been paid for by funds raised through several benefits. The remodeling, which is now complete, has been paid for through Auxiliary dances.Talking to Mr. Wallace Bourgeois and Mr. Edward Phillips of the Waveland Volunteer Fire Department, I learned that a very necessary amount must be raised to replace some much needed hose, renew fire extinguishers, nozzles and new ladders. It will take about $1,000 to buy this important equipment, plus a good first aid kit.Mr. Phillips said the truck and volunteer group have answered every fire call sent to the fire station. Through a system of signals, the men converge upon the danger area from all parts of Waveland. The truck has never been called without at least seven men on it. It is a reliable group, doing a tremendous service and because it is the only means of fighting a fire in Waveland should be supported.Contribution by private citizens are often made and put to excellent use.
The men in charge are not paid; all the money received by this organization is used to replace and improve their equipment.The need for the thousand dollars is acute. Fortunately, there have been no serious fires in the Waveland area.
The equipment in use today is old and repairs. You can do a civic duty and perform a joint act of self-preser-
